"Business has responded to the influence of settled spring weather at most points, and the proximity of Easter has increased retail sales of dry goods, millinery, and footwear. Many dealers had underestimated requirements, and urgent demands are made upon jobbing houses.

but at many cities there are still complaints that seasonable goods do not come forward as specified. In addition to current trade there is a volume of preparation for later seasons that maintains activity at manufacturing plants, the high prices readily paid on most of this forward business testifying to the fact that confidence remains unshaken.

"One of the best features of the present situation is the steady improvement in mercantile payments, despite the unsettled condition of the money market. Open weather has brought out much new structural work, and the movement of building materials is heavy, while at many cities real estate is still advancing.

"Congestion in the iron and steel industry, and tardiness of deliveries were accentuated by the flood, which stopped production at many plants in the Pittsburg district for three days or more. Some nills were damaged to an extent that was not readily remedied, and the record-breaking rate of pig iron output was reduced so that March will not attain the new monthly high-water mark that seemed probable.

Cotton Mills Had Hands Full.

"A lull in the volume of new business is welcomed by the cotton mills, as pressure for delivery had advanced prices to the limit of safety in the opinion of many."

'Footwear factories in New England receive supplementary orders for seasonable goods, chiefly from Eastern wholesalers, for shipment in May and June, but this class of business comes forward somewhat slowly. Jobbers operate conservatively because of high prices for shoes, the recent reaction in raw materials encouraging the hope of more attractive offers.

"Spring trade is at its height, and the turnover bids fair to exceed even last year's, stimulus being furnished by more flavorable weather, the approach of Easter, and the visits of country merchants to the larger centers. Improvement is reflected all around, even in the Northwest, which now appears to be getting back to normal conditions, although collections are still backward in North Dakota.

"In fact, doubt as to the future is nowhere in evidence in the great producing sections of the country. At some points in the West sales of dry goods on spring account are fully 10 per cent above those of last year, while fall business thus far placed is also in excess of that booked at this time in 1996.

"Retall business has opened up well, and stocks in general are not burdensome. Collections, while not good, tend to improve in parts of the country, the Southwest being conspicuous in this respect, owing to the fact that country merchants are discounting bills. While the car situation in the West has improved, conditions in the East are worse, but neverther. tions in the East are worse, but neverthe-less a greater movement of cereals to market may now be expected.

Gain in Cotton Exports.

"Somewhat more activity is displayed in foundry pig iron for future delivery, and now and then demand for spot supplies become urgent, when premiums are obtained. In the South, where the bulk of the business has been placed, prices have stiffened. While the floods in the Pittsburg district caused only a temporary stoppage of work in the steel and iron industry, the effects thereof were sufficient to retard production.

WASHINGTON PASTORS-No. IX.

REV. J. G. BUTLER, D. D., LL. D.

REV. J. G. BUTLER, D. D., LL. D.

Rev. J. G. Butler, D. D., LL. D., organizer and founder of the Luther Place Memorial Church, which recently celebrated its thirty-fourth anniversary, is the dean of Washington divines, both in point of age and of service. Since 1849 he has been a pastor of flocks in this city, and although well advanced in years, he has by no means lost any of the activity and energy which has made his congregation one of the most zealous in Washington. Born in Cumberland, Md., in the earlier part of the last century, he received his collegiate and theological education in Pennsylvania College at Gettysburg, and was graduated in 1849. He came immediately to Washington and assumed the pastorship of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, which position he held until 1872. In that year he organized the Luther Place Memorial Church, with forty-eight members, many of whom are still connected with the church. It was dedicated a year later, and on its tenth anniversary a statue to Luther was erected through Dr. Butler's instrumentality. During his career many honors have been visited on Dr. Butler.

His alma mater gave him his D. D. In 1890, while a few years later Newberry College conferred on him the degree of LL. D. He was appointed chapiain of the House of Representative during the Speakership of James G. Biaine, and some years later he served in the same capacity in the Senate for seven years. He also held the chair of theology at Howard University and was chaplain at St. Elizabeth's for a long period. The Memorial Church is supported by voluntary contributions, and numbers 330 members. Three churches, the Zion Church, the Church of Our Redeemer, and the Kellar Memorial Church have been a direct outgrowth of the Memorial Church, the trustees of which are George Ryneal, jr., elder emeritus; Dr. W. K. Butler and Lucian V. Alden, elders; A. D. Spangler, P. E. Wurdeman, and F. A. Berger, deacons. W. A. Finckle is superintendent of the Sunday school.
